Description

My Name is Atanas Kambitov, I am currently studying informatics at the "SWU Neofit Rilski" university in Blagoevgrad and at the Software University "SoftUni" in Sofia. In September 2018 hopefully I will get my graduation diploma.

Programming is my passion and I am looking to develop and grow a career in web development, specifically as a .NET or Front-End developer.

My favourite programming languages are JavaScript and C#. I am highly motivated, focused, with a lot of will to keep learning new things.

Many times I can work as good under pressure.

Experience

2017-06

Paolo Pavia - Prestashop & WordPress Developer :

My responsibility was to create and build a well working online shops. Many times I had to implement changes to already build websites and do code refactoring.

2017-01

SoftWare University - Student :

Most of the coding experience I gained is from the SoftUni University in Sofia. They gave me the opportunity to work on several projects servers and applications by using different technologies, languages, and frameworks. I have being taking courses for about 2 years now. POINT OF SALE

This small project was an exam of a JavaScript Applications Course. The app's pourpuse is to create and store receipts for each individual user, it has multiple validations, notification messages and more. It performs simple CRUD operations, it uses the session storage to store data and as a backend server and database I was asked to use the website www.Kinvey.com. I build it mainly with the frameworks Handlebars.js and Sammy.js in about 5 hours. You can run it simply with VS Code.

I have other projects written in Asp.Net MVC With Entity Framework, Asp.Net MVC, Angular.js, React.js, Sammy.js + Hanlebars as a view engine, node.js and more.

You can check them out in my SoftUni Github repository.
